DANIEL TIRADO

Growing up in Montreal, Daniel Tirado first moved to New York city to study acting at the Neighborhood Playhouse School of the Theatre. After graduating from the conservatory, he decided to venture into stand-up comedy. After only 6 months of performing on stage, Daniel was invited to play at the world-renowned Montreal Just For Laughs Festival in 2005.

In 2010, Daniel was welcomed back, appearing in various shows including "Best Of The Fest" as well as a televised gala in the French division of the festival "Juste Pour Rire," making him one of the very few comedians to work the event in both languages. The following year, in collaboration with JFL, Daniel was featured on a Spanish comedy special OMNI Presents Bilingual Stand-Up which aired across Canada on the OMNI TV network, making it his 3rd appearance at the festival.

Daniel also toured with MRSOE (Most Races Show On Earth) in 2012, playing eight states including South Carolina where he entertained audiences at the Charleston Comedy Festival.

In 2013, Daniel made his American television debut showcasing his talent on AXS TV's Gotham Comedy Live and was selected to perform as one of the top 10 finalists on StandUp NBC.

Daniel now lives in New York and performs regularly at some of the most prestigious clubs in the city.
