

BILLY SORRELLS

Billy Sorrells is a writer/performer who is not shy about bringing sexy back to comedy.

After a few years of consistently creating digital content in his native city of Houston, Billy got his break when a collection of sketches with his character “Peaches” attracted over 17 million views, including the viral hit “*Sh*t Black Girls Say.*”

Since moving to Los Angeles in 2012, Billy created the series OFFICE CODE (BET Digital), became a series regular on the series FUNNIEST WINS (TBS), hosted the pilot SWIPE FOR LOVE (Oxygen), and played “Chester Rich” in the feature LUCKY GIRL (eOne/BET).

Additionally, Billy appeared in the vh1 pilot DIRTY 30's from the producers of GUY CODE and did a cameo in the Yo Gotti music video "Down in the DM" that to date has over 64 million views.

In Season 8 of the hit MTV series WILD'N OUT, Billy became a regular cast member. Most recently, Billy taped a half hour comedy special for Kevin Hart's LOL Network.

Billy lives in Los Angeles.